Toorx SRX Speed Mag Pro is an entry-level indoor cycle designed for riders who want strong performance, modern connectivity, and excellent value. It features a 20 kg balanced flywheel, belt-drive transmission with fixed pinion, and a magnetic braking system with 24 electronically adjustable resistance levels, delivering a smooth, quiet, and controlled ride. For added safety, it also includes a quick-lock brake.

Built for comfort and adjustability, the SRX Speed Mag Pro comes with a two-color saddle with vertical and micrometric horizontal adjustment, plus a handlebar with both vertical and micrometric horizontal adjustment. It also includes a blue backlit LCD display that shows key workout data such as RPM, speed, time, distance, calories, heart rate, watts, and intensity level. Training options include manual mode, 10 preset programs, 4 heart-rate control programs, watts mode, and user mode.

The bike is App Ready 3.0 integrated and compatible with Zwift and Kinomap for a more interactive training experience. It also has a built-in wireless heart rate receiver, and a heart rate monitor is included. With a sturdy build, 3-piece crank, and compact dimensions of 1160 x 510 x 1320 mm, the SRX Speed Mag Pro is a practical choice for home users looking for a connected and feature-rich indoor cycling bike.
